

License Download – Quick Start

Internet connection:

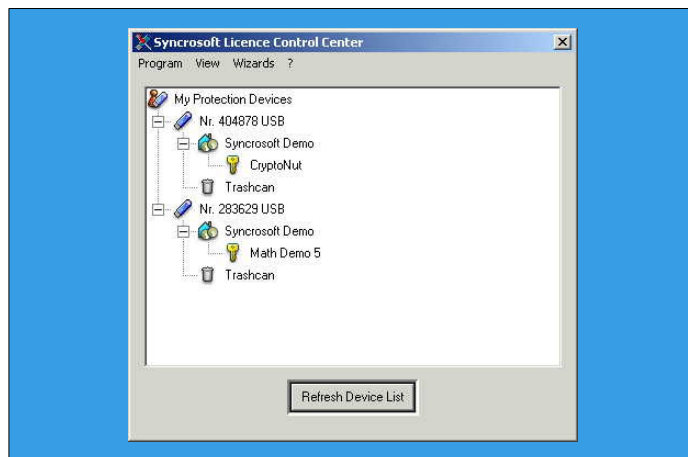

To download a license an Internet connection will always be required. If there is no Internet connection available on the computer to which the protection device is attached, a computer with such will be needed. There is an additional installation program for the License Control Center available on the protected program CD. The name of the installation program is 'SyncrosoftLicenseControlSetup.exe' and can be found in a CD sub-catalogue (or in the Internet see website: <http://www.syncrosoft.com/downloads/>). You should start the installation program on a computer with a Internet connection and connect the protection device. By the help of the wizard 'License Download' the license can be downloaded to the protection device. Thereafter the License Control Center can be deinstalled.

License Download:

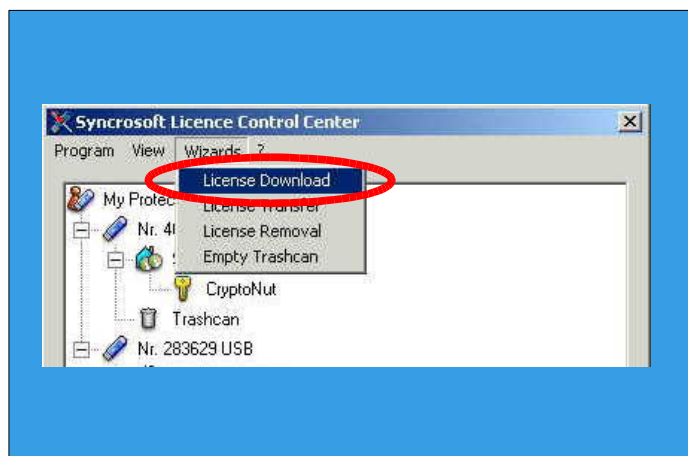

1. Start the License Control Center.

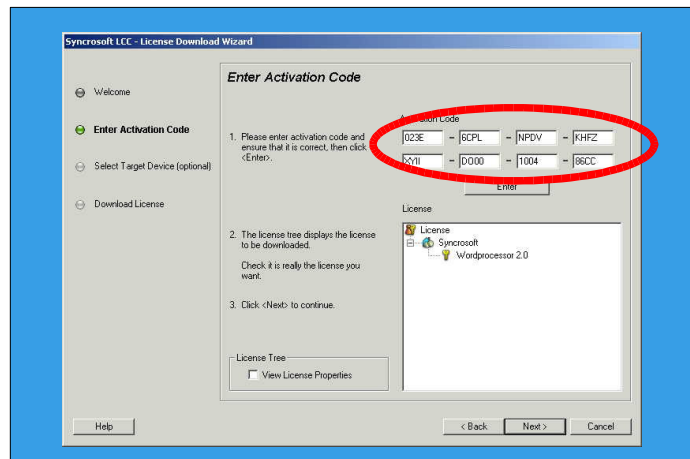

2. The License Control Center shows all connected protection devices and the contained licenses.

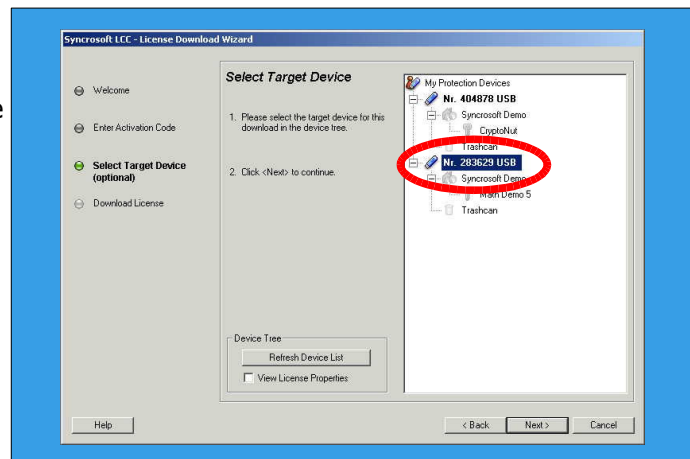

3. Please start the assistant 'License Download'.

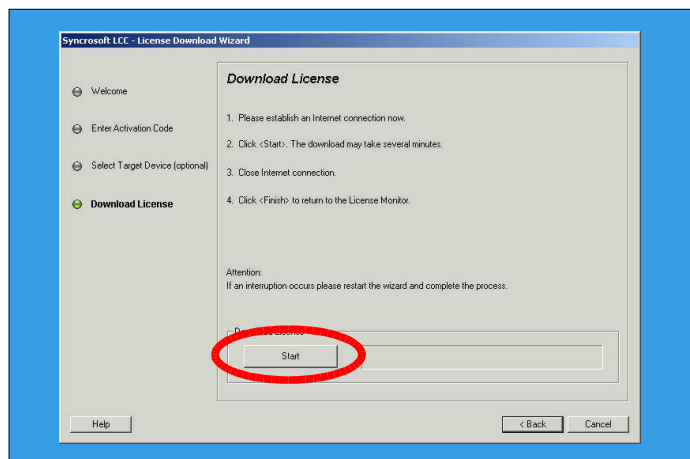

4. Please enter the activation code.

5. If there is more than one protection device connected to the computer, you are asked to choose the device on which you wish to download the license.

6. Please build up the internet connection as usual and afterwards start the download.

7. The license monitor shows the license which was just downloaded.

